

Herts Bird Club Committee, 25 May 2020:

Although Government rules became more permissive in May regarding outdoor activities, we do not intend to publish records where the circumstances or location would make social distancing impossible to achieve. We will, however, use our discretion to publish details of sightings where there is little or no risk of behaviour that breaches the rules

When bird watching out of doors, please observe social distancing at all times and do not travel to sites with people outside your immediate household. Please note that we will not be publishing any rarity records from nature reserves that are currently closed.